Anonymous I have a Bonavita Peyton Convertible Crib and am now looking to convert to bed, since they are not available anymore now, there is a standard set or compatible set of rails that fit into that crib #xD? By Erin Watson-Price Updated July 21, 2017 To convert to a baby bed you have to purchase a fence. It is not included in the original cot packaging. To go to a full bed you have to purchase two beds rails. They are not included in the original cot packaging. In accordance with the list of instructions for assembling the Peyton collection, you can also download instructions on how to transform the full bed or just to transform the baby's bed. Peyton Lifestyle offers parents the opportunity to grow furniture with their child. Created and distributed by LaJobi, Inc. under the Bonavita brand, the Peyton Lifestyle crib changes from cot to bed for kids with protective rail, to a full bed or a day bed. In addition, the mattress crib spring is adjustable to three different heights, allowing parents to choose a higher setting to facilitate access to the newborn and lower the mattress as soon as the child learns to pull up and stand. If you have lost assembly instructions between the newborn and toddler stages or the instructions were not in your original box, you can print out the full directions online. Go to the Bonavita website. Select Customer Service from the menu at the far right right of the page. Select Build Instructions from the menu to the right of the page. Scroll down the page until you find Peyton Collections. The collections are listed in alphabetical order. Keep scrolling until you find Peyton Lifestyle Crib. Click on this link to open the PDF file in the new widow, containing complete instructions on how to assemble the original crib or convert to the baby's bed, day bed or full bed.
